

Editor's Note

It is with great pleasure that we publish this special issue edited by our Guest Editor Prof. Hong Yan. It provides a glimpse of the significant work on flow control that is undertaken in Asia. We look forward to the continued interest from our Asian colleagues for this Journal both in terms of quality papers and increased subscriptions through their Institutions.

I would like to personally thank Prof. Hong Yan for her efforts in soliciting all the papers and having them reviewed and revised to meet the standards of the Journal.
